FOREWORD

As Texans, proud of our heritage, we pause in this—our Centennial year—to look back on early Austin and pay homage to those who made our Austin of today. In a setting of incomparable beauty, pioneer settlers laid the foundations for our present institutions of education, government, religion, communication, recreation and industry. Under fine leadership these institutions have been changed to meet the needs of a progressive society—the Austin of yesterday has truly given us the Austin of today.

TO THE GRADUATES

In a few more months or a few more years you will be "frontiersmen" of the New Texas. Your frontier will not resemble that of Stephen F. Austin, Ben Milam, Davy Crockett, and Sam Houston one hundred and more years ago. You will not live in log cabins, built by your own efforts, nor encounter the myriad hardships of the wilderness. Your frontier will not be composed of physical landmarks for you to conquer. It will deal with the shifting economic and social changes, the intellectual and spiritual phases of the life of the people.

My earnest wish for you is that you may fill an honored place, as did the frontiersmen of the Early Texas. Your day as educated men and women will be to see that economic, social, intellectual and spiritual conditions shall so exist that all who love equality of opportunity and justice would desire to dwell in the New Texas.

May God bless you, go with you, and lead you throughout the years to come.

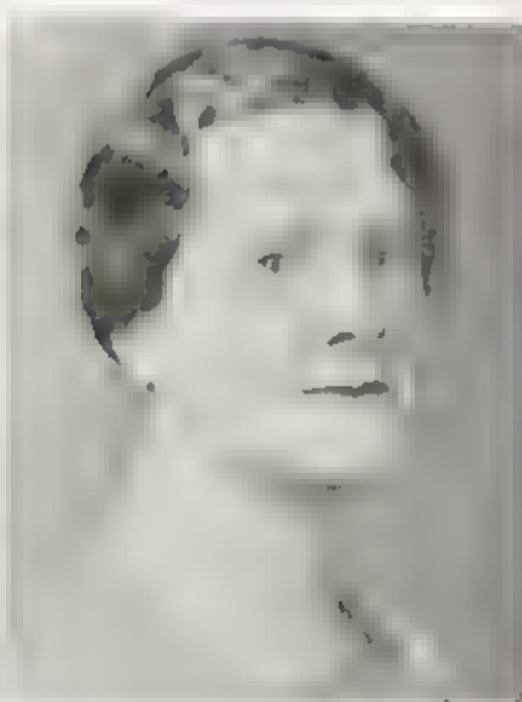

Sincerely,

A. N. McCallum

TO THE STUDENTS OF AUSTIN HIGH SCHOOL:

We scan together the picture of our Austin and Texas of today against the background of the days and people of a century ago.

Great has been the material change and progress. Life is more convenient, more complete in its possibilities, and much safer for each of us.

But greater culture does not come from material change. Wealth and leisure only create opportunities for spiritual and social advancement. They do not assure it.

As we ponder the trail over which our Lone Star civilization has come, it is with a hope that your high school may through you have some part in bringing a social order and a culture worthy of these opportunities.

The Growth of Our Band

Mr. Weldon Covington, calling the first band rehearsal upon his arrival in Austin High, was answered by the appearance of eight boys. Owing to this disheartening reception, he has built from this group of eight a band of over ninety pieces.

He has been in Austin High School for five years, since 1931, and in the two Junior High Schools for the past three years. Development of Junior High School band work has given the Maroons the benefit of boys with some experience, and has resulted in high quality work on the part of the band. Last year the Maroon Band placed first in the State Band Contest.

Within the past five years the band has completely paid for sixty uniforms at a cost of something over $1,000. They now plan to increase the number of uniforms in the future so that more of the ninety members may have them. The School Board has bought $2,000 worth of new instruments for the band.

Mr. Covington is just the man for the hard job he has of handling something over a hundred boys and keeping them all satisfied. He is patient, good natured, and an efficient worker. He is modest and extremely well liked by his boys. If you don't believe it, say something disagreeable about "Cov" to one of them. The boys think he is the best there is, as is proved by the way they work for him.

Poet Laureate of Austin High School

In a contest sponsored by the Verse-makers Club, Ruby Smith was chosen the first Poet Laureate of Austin High School.

POEMS BY RUBY SMITH

SONGS

Oh, a bluebird's song is lovely
As he thrills each mellow note
Of such wondrous tone and sweetness
From his joyous, warbling throat.

And a pine tree swaying gently
In the crying, singing wind
Makes a lonely sort of music
That I love and comprehend.

There are other kinds of music:
Scarlet setting suns are one;
Rhythm that is mute and silent,
Coming when the day is done—

And the shining glow of silver
Made by summer's full gold moons
Makes a strange and sad-sweet cadence
When my heart longs for such tunes.

I can hear a rhythmic measure
In the bright and shining steel
That speeds by me when I'm watching
Some fast locomotive wheel—

And the tapping of swift raindrops
Falling on a window-pane
Sings a melody harmonic
That brings joy and—somehow—pain.

But the songs of all creation
Are as naught to hear and see,
When compared to one dear measure.
Though they thrill the heart of me—

There's a song that's dearer, sweeter,
And of joy there is no lack.

It's the song my heart is singing
Since I've found you're coming back!

RUBY SMITH

CRITICAL

Looking back upon my childhood,
Thinking of old griefs and fears,
With the patriarchal wisdom
Of fourteen eventful years,
I'm inclined to be disdainful,
And to smile a bit and say
That I was a rather queer child,
Silly in, oh—every way.
And I sigh with satisfaction
When I think of how I've changed;
How I act so much more wisely;
How my life I've rearranged
But when I start thinking, later,
On the things that I now do,
And my ways of thought and action,
They will all seem silly too!!

MISTY MORNING

The raindrops fall in swift, cascading rushes
Across a cloudy, high—banked sky today,
And down the street a streamlet darts and gushes

And flows on to the river far away.
Outside my window, ere the rain's beginning,
A bush with berries bright against the sky
Stood there—and oh, its leaves were parched and thinning

And dry; I kissed it softly, lest it die,
And then the sweet, fresh rain came down,
and dripping

Upon the gray, dry leaves gave life again,
I thought their small leaf—hearts seemed glad,
as sipping

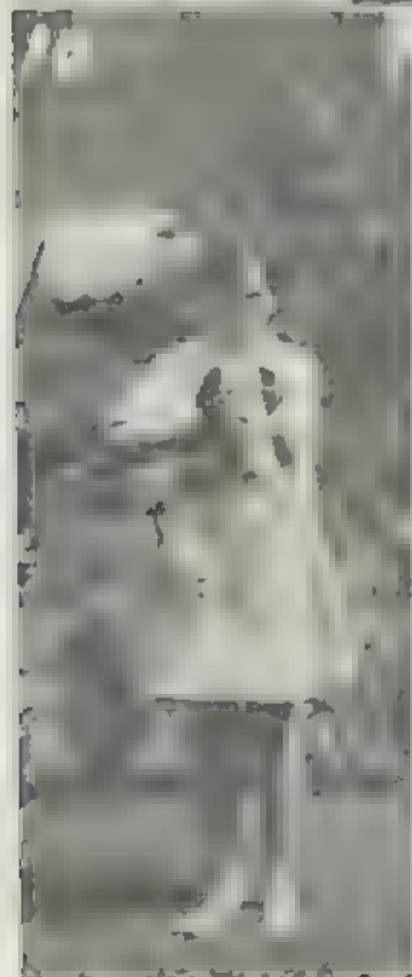

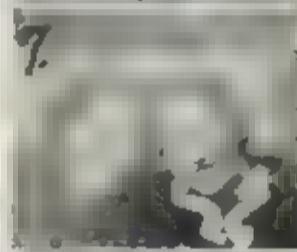

The drops, they breathed and were released from pain.

I wonder if God sends us misty mornings
Through long, tired days and down the lonely years,

To bring relief from aching thoughts unspoken
For those whose eyes are dry with unshed tears.

A TYPICAL MILL OF EARLY AUSTIN

Austin's early miller exemplifies one of the few departures from the generally accepted conditions of yesterday, when one was dependent almost solely on his own resources and when specialization was unknown.

AUSTIN'S MILL OF TODAY

Today the mill, greatly expanded and vastly more efficient, continues to exist, but the remainder of our economic structure shows much more change, with its emphasis on specialization, allowing everyone to follow his greatest interest. In our school also we find this specialization or division into groups according to interests.

Fleeting Feet and Flashing Fight

A Saga of
Austin High Football, 1935

A flying start and a madly successful season characterize Austin High School Gridiron Record of 1935. Having led football throughout the season, the Maroons reached spectacular form in early games and showed only flashes of such play in completing a rigorous schedule. Finishing the season with four powerful wins, four losses, and a tie, the team boasted of a formidable line, a well balanced backfield, and a capable coaching staff of Beanie Strickland, Standard Lambert, and C. J. Alderson.

Supported enthusiastically by a cheering student body, the Maroons brought many thrills to Horse Park for the past year. 142 points were scored by Austin on the opponents' 89. Following is a review of the nine football games of the year.

MAROONS TAKE STEERS 7-0 IN OPENER

The opening game of the season saw Austin High in Fort Worth to Little (the North Side Steers). Showing plenty of power and speed, the Maroons fought for a 7-0 victory. Through the passing of John Egan and the defensive work of Charles Jungmiche, the ball was deep in Steer territory during the 4th quarter with the score 0-0. Little Ed Locke was poised on Fort Worth's 45 receiving a Steer punt. Coast! Before the Steers could recover themselves, Locke held the ball for Egan to make the score 7-0.

AUSTIN SWAMPS GEORGETOWN 57-0

Locke, Egan, John Kubik, Archie Wilson, Ray Egan, and Pete Ludwig made Horse Park a parade ground Friday evening, October 3, with the Georgetown Eagles doing little to interrupt them. Locke scored three touchdowns, Egan 14 points. The remaining scored one touchdown apiece, and Metke kicked goal once, while Herbert O'Leary and Jammie Farrell contributed to the win as a good pass combination.

TEMPLE TOPPLES MAROONS 7-0

A last quarter touchdown gave the Wildcats a meager win over a spirited Austin eleven in Temple with 800 shouting Austin students pushing them on to their best showing against Temple in years. Having outplayed the Cats for three quarters, the Maroons weakened in the final period and permitted a lone touchdown. The entire team played to its full with inspiration, and in many times threatened to score against the team that was to win its district championship.

HARLANDALE IS SWAMPED

The Maroons continued their impressive play against the San Antonio club before them for Austin's first conference game of the season. Har made offered little to the well drilled Maroons, who converted the Indians' mistakes into scores.

PORT ARTHUR WALLOPS AUSTIN 25-0

Mud and rain did not phase a powerful Port Arthur machine which led off an impressive victory to down a disappointed Maroon eleven. Unable to cope with the Yellow Jackets, the Maroons floundered in the slush. They fought hard but in vain. Egart displayed much skill in handling a soggy ball.

JEFFERSON UPSETS MAROONS 14-0

A disastrous defeat was served Austin when they encountered Thomas Jefferson in San Antonio in their second conference game. Unable to come back after getting off to a bad start, the Maroons seemed to lack the courage to win. Jungmich, playing defensive center, was in a position to halt many Mustang drives, but was unable to stop a barrage of fire thrusts and passes.

TIVY BATTLES TO 12-12 DEADLOCK

Again suffering from a slow start and a peculiar twist of fate, the Maroons' ambitions dimmed as they tied with Kerrville in a 12-12 score. Egart and Everett scored for Austin, and Looke and Grand passed well. In the line, Worn and Bowles played a fighting game. Austin made 10 first downs to Kerrville's 6.

BRACKENRIDGE EAGLES FLY OVER MAROONS 27-7

Entirely obliterating Austin from District 15 ranking, Brackenridge showed much power and made its breaks. A bad pass from center counted for one Eagle score in exception, for another, and long runs for the remaining two. Jungmich scored late in the fourth for Austin with Bill Kuhn converting.

TECH TAKEN IN 21-6 TILT

Austin completed the season with a flash of enthusiasm. Looke scored once, Everett twice, and Egart converted on all three. In the game were sixteen seniors, concluding their high school grid careers with a convincing victory.

LETTERS AWARDED TO TWENTY-TWO

Twenty-two players received letters in football for 1935. Joe Anderson and Charles Stevenson were awarded Managerial letter.

Lettermen were:

ENDS: Jimmie Farrell, Nathan Hirsh, Albert Menke, and Archer Wilson.

TACKLES: Roy Broyles, Sam Griffin, and James Wilson.

GUARDS: V. D. Basey, Bill Cousins, Charles Jungmichel, and James Word.

BACKS: Jack Bowman, Billy Elliott, Fred Everett, John Kuhn, William Kuhn, Fred Looke, Herbert Orand, Pete Ludwig, and Albert Taylor.

RESERVES: Bob Coquat, John Nash, Walter Swanson, and Jack Stewart.

INDIVIDUAL SCORING PLACES LOOKE FIRST

In individual scoring, co-captain Looke ranks first, and even the other captain, Charles Jungmichel, a guard, is included.

Following is the list of scoring as the season ends:

Looke	46	A. Wilson	6
Fenn	20	Ludwig	6
Everett	18	Bowman	6
Jungmichel	12	A. Taylor	6
B. Kuhn	10	J. Kuhn	6
Orand	6
			142

Final District Standing was.

	W	L	T	Pct.
Brackenridge	4	0	1	900
Thomas Jefferson	4	1	0	800
Kennett	2	4	2	600
AUSTIN	2	2	1	500
Main Tech	1	4	0	200
Harlandale	0	5	0	000

All District honors were divided between Charles Jungmichel, universal choice for left guard, Jimmie Bartlett, Fred Everett, and Fred Looke, for Austin High.

Basket Ball

With four lettermen returning from the 1935 team, Coach Strickland gave Austin High its best season since 1931. The team used a zone defense that limited its opponents to an average of 17 points per game. The Maroons used a set type of offense that worked to the best advantage for an average of 27 points per tilt.

Chester Granville and McCaleb Taylor proved to be the high scorers for the year. Granville, although a first year man, showed the fans a type of game that would have done justice to most veterans. He was a hard man to guard as his 283 points will show. Taylor, a six feet two and one-half inch center, controlled the tip-off in the majority of the games played by the Maroons this season. He used right and left hand shots with equal accuracy. His total for the season was 247.

"Swede" Anderson, a six feet three inch forward, although not getting as many points as Taylor or Granville, used his height to the best advantage in taking shots off the backboard and in handling the ball after the tip-off. He hit the basket for 104 points.

Greer, Baxter, and Barnes were outstanding at the guard posts. Greer was only five feet six inches tall but was an excellent floor man and an accurate shot from mid-court. Baxter and Barnes were slightly taller and were equally good ball-handlers.

Austin started the season with a pair of top heavy wins over McMahan and Temple. In the San Antonio Tourney, Austin defeated Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio but lost a close 23-21 game to the champion San Jacinto Bears of Houston. The Maroons kept the winning streak going, losing only to Waco and in return beating the Waco five 15-8 and 28-12.

The Maroons entered the District Tournament as favorites and came out the same way. They defeated Johnson City 59-11, Belton 27-21, and topped Thrall 37-17 in the final game. Baxter, Granville, and Taylor were placed on the All-District Team.

Sports scribes rated the Maroons as favorites to win the Region 6 title and the Austin five did not let their followers down. The Brackenridge five of

Basket Ball

San Antonio fell before the Crimson cagers 32-15 in the first round and the Del Rio Wildcats proved not to be in a class with the Maroons. Austin reserves finished the game that ended 40-20 in favor of the Maroons.

The El Paso Tigers met the Crimson Kids in the first round of the State Tournament and found the Maroons having an off night. To make matters worse Chester Granville broke his ankle in the third quarter and the Bengals won the tilt 21-14. El Paso later entered the finals and lost a close game to the Crushing Bearkats, 33-29.

With the exception of B. L. and Bob Cousins and Archer Wilson, the Maroons will have the same team back next year and Maroon followers are looking forward to the best in Maroon history.

The following is a list of the individual scoring of the Maroons:

Granville	283
Taylor	247

Anderson	104

Explanatory Note

The necessity of going to press with THE COMET before the spring sports of baseball, track, and tennis are finished has been a source of much worry to the Comet Staff and has resulted in the publication of rather a meager account of those sports. In order to avoid the last-minute rush and consequent inaccuracy and incompleteness evident in the past, we believe it wise to adopt a college and university plan of presenting spring sports in the annual of the following year. In this, the transition year, we are presenting a combination, consisting of pictures of this year's participants and a write-up of last year's activities. In succeeding years a much more effective presentation can be made than has been possible in the past.

Baseball

Austin High School could boast of a peppy, ever-fighting baseball club last season, although the list of games lost and won was not so impressive. Under the generalship of Benny Strickland, the Mirroons improved with almost every game, even though hampered by illness in the latter part of the play.

Wesley Lock did honors on the mound, pitching five out of the twelve games played, and winning two of them. McCaleb Taylor was up and coming on the pitching staff, but he was not available the last six encounters on account of illness. Curtis Stanberry and Freddie Everett also saw service in the pitcher's box, both handling their assignments very ably.

Holding down home plate were Jesse Jones and Ernest Bradley, both good men. Jones led the batting average with .400. G. A. Pringle and Kniven Fields were usually hanging around first base and doing it right well at that. A fighting player, Jack Conway, held down third, with Dale Barnes there ready to assist him.

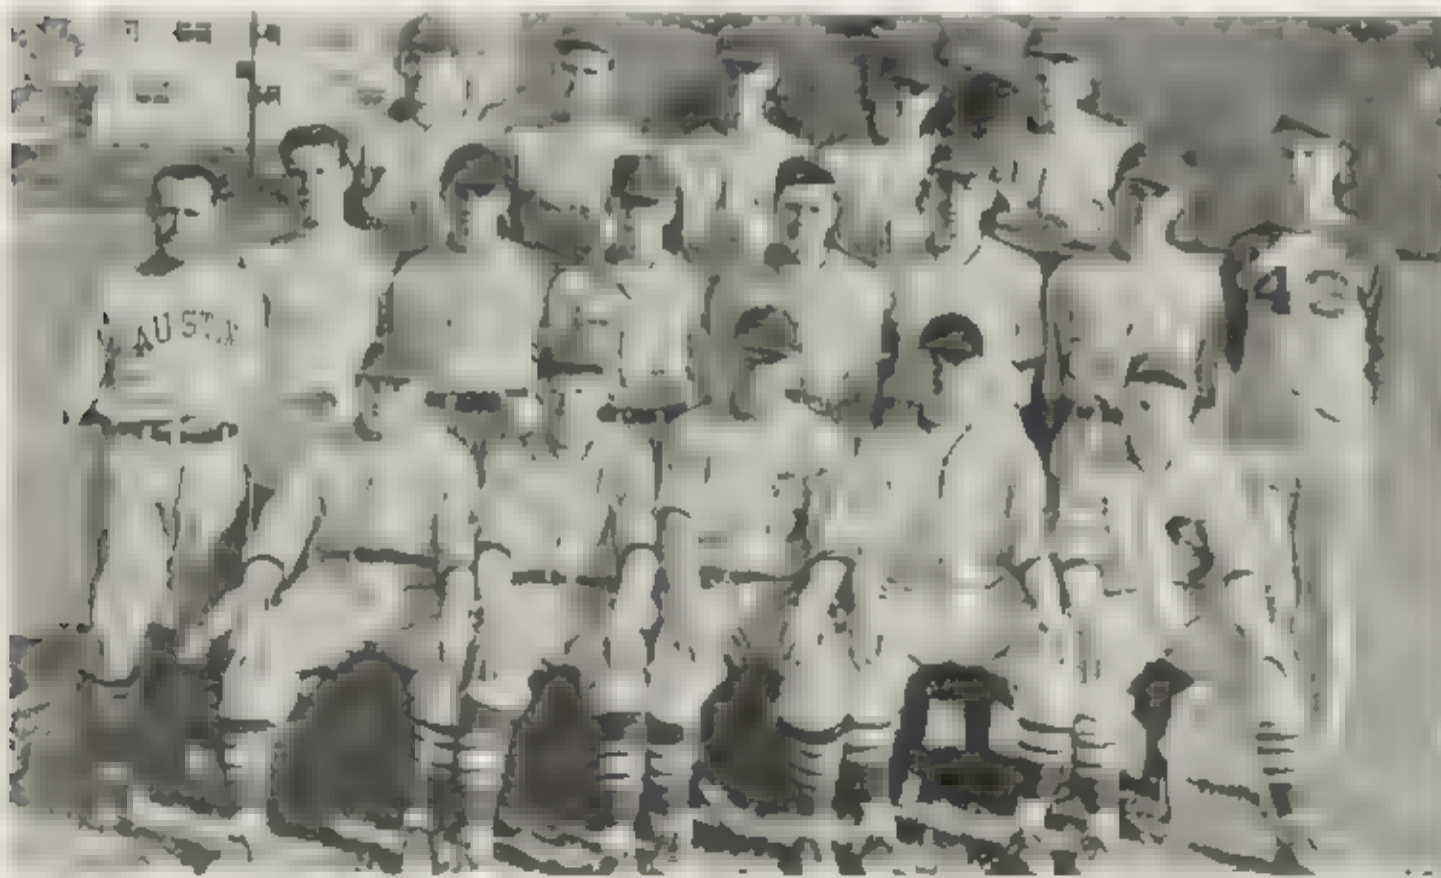

Three scrappy players were fighting it out at second. Randolph Starr, Jay Barnard, and Little Billy Hec were always available and always ready for a peppy game. Jay Barnard was second in the batting average with .350.

The short stop position was well handled by Freddie Everett and George Stevenson.

In the outfield were Franklin Raymond at left, Herbert Orand in center, and Limmie Farrell at right. Both Raymond and Farrell were dependable sluggers, and Orand, less experienced, has shown his smoke more this year.

In their first encounter, the Maroon nine battled to ten innings before they were defeated by the strong Thrall Club. Lock struck out seven men in this game.

The Crimson Kids next took a 17 to 7 victory from Gonzales. Taylor pitched well, and the whole team counted in on the scoring.

Austin next suffered defeats at the hands of three San Antonio clubs—namely Brackenridge, Sidney Lanier, and Thomas Jefferson.

Brackenridge found the story a bit different when they met the Maroons for a second time. The Austin nine administered a 13 to 9 whipping to the Eagles to avenge the 7 to 1 defeat they had suffered earlier in the season. Lock pitched the winning game, striking out 14 men.

Hondo also fell victim to the improving Maroons in their second encounter. Hondo had previously defeated Austin 18 to 5, but received a 9 to 4 whipping later. Lock won this game almost single-handed, knocking two home runs and a triple, and pitching splendid ball.

Austin found San Antonio Tech tough going, losing its first game to them by a 12 to 4 score, but narrowing the margin in the second fray, 4 to 3.

Stanberry made a good effort on the mound against Gonzales, but the Maroons dropped the game, 1 to 0.

One of the strongest aggregations in the state represented Austin High in track for the season of 1935. Coach John Keel began the year with only three returning veterans but proceeded to build up a team that went through its schedule undefeated in dual competition.

Harry Williams in the field events, Jim Kreise, hurdler, and Tom Law, distance man, were the only three newcomers who returned as lettermen, but they were well supported by a number of eager youngsters who later developed to be more than hopefuls. Outstanding among these was Dan Harvill, whose first year on the team netted him numerous firsts and seconds in the hurdles. He won several coat-tight races and placed second to Kreise, the district winner for the low timbers.

Harry Williams, the season's high point man, specialized in the jumping events, tying or breaking records in four big meets. His outstanding accomplishments were his 15 points made at the district in this market to 6 ft. 4 in. which broke the high jump record at the Baylor Invitational Meet.

John Montgomery joined Williams in the jumps, leaping 21 ft. 6 in. at the regional to enter the state along with the three lettermen of the preceding season. Tom Law was coupled with Bill Kuhn at the 880 and Tommy McSpadden and John Atkinson were valued as 440 men.

Several milers reported at the beginning of the year and through their efforts the Maroons captured a number of points. Gilbert Osorio placed in a fast run race at the district meet. Everett Bohls and Murry Yantis also were distancemen of unusual ability.

James Farrell showed promise as a weight man and Billy Stinnerdy did some good work in the classes. Some of the hardest work of the year was that done by Robert Abadie, the faithful manager, and Clarence King, his assistant.

As is noted by the foregoing facts, Austin High won first place in five contests during the year. The Maroons likewise showed up well in the Texas Relays, San Antonio Relays, and the Regional Meet. The integrated district conflict resulted in Austin's garnering more than twice as many points as her nearest rival, and although rain caused great interference in the

Boys' Tennis

Twelve out of the thirteen matches participated in by Austin High were won by the Maroon netters. Coached by Tom Holland, the team copped 55 of the 78 sets played, and ably represented the school in tennis.

Uncle Tom, as the coach is known to his netters, whipped together a good team from the material offered.

Teams from nine different Texas high schools went down in defeat at the hands of the Austin squad. Six strong teams as Houston, Galveston, and Georgetown found hard going against the Maroon players.

Waco lost to the Austin High team 6 to 3 and Alamo Heights suffered defeat to the tune of 5 to 0. The only loss of the season was at the hands of Georgetown, 9 to 6. The matches were played on the University of Texas women's courts, but the Maroons soon gained revenge in Georgetown, downing the hometowners 8 to 4.

Smithville went down twice before the strong service and backhand of the Austin netters, and Laredo lost on the Austin athletic courts 5 to 0. Abilene took the smaller end of a 3 to 1 score in the next encounter here.

Austin swept through Bee High School of Galveston, beating them 9 to 3 here, then journeying to the island city to defeat them 8 to 2. San Jacinto High in Houston afforded little competition as the Maroons won 17 out of 22 sets played in their two game encounter. At Houston, Austin won 9 to 3, and took 8 out of the 10 games played here. Minor netters lost to the local players 3 to 0.

The team gave an exhibition match in the gym during advisory period, with Tenney and King playing Granville and Hatzfield. Bobby Kamrath refereed the games.

Second row: DAVIS, GREER, NALLE, SCHNEDES, CORNWELL, BAXTER, EZELLE, RABENBURG, ALDERSON

Girls' Tennis

New vitality and interest were created in the girls' tennis field by the appearance of a new coach, C. I. "Shorty" Alderson.

The team was composed of the following girls: Joyce Burdett, Elva Baker, Marjorie Rigg, Joan Giles, Frances Perry, Eddie Lou Callan, Doris Burdett, and Dorothy Ann Kasse.

The girls' team won twelve out of the thirteen matches that they played. They won from the following schools: Georgetown, Robstown, Alamo Heights, Thomas Jefferson, Taylor, Lockhart, Galveston, Stockdale—losing one match to Brackenridge.

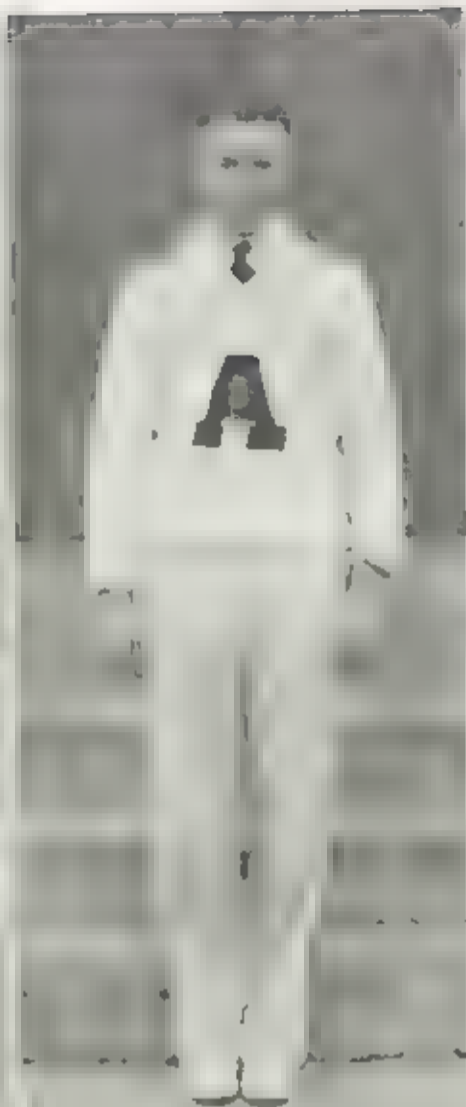

The girls' tennis team, Elva Baker and Joyce Burdett, won the district and regional meets. This was the first time in the history of Austin High School that a girls' tennis team has gone beyond the district meet.

Girls' tennis is fast "coming into its own" in the school. The girls hope to receive awards of some kind for their work.

Miss Margaret Kirkner was woman sponsor for the girls' tennis team.
